

Hagley Museum and Library
presents a conference

food chains

Provisioning, Technology, and Science

November 2 to 4, 2006
Wilmington, Delaware

NOVEMBER 2 - WINTERTHUR

Ann Smart Martin, University of Wisconsin

"Provisioning Early America: Or, Four Hundred Turkeys Just Passed the Door"

For directions to Winterthur, visit www.winterthur.org

NOVEMBER 3 AND 4 - HAGLEY SODA HOUSE

Keynote Address:

Warren Belasco, University of Maryland, Baltimore County
"How Much Depends on Dinner?"

Presenting:

Jeffrey Pilcher, University of Minnesota

"Tortillas Around the World: Creating Global Supply Chains for the Mexican Restaurant Industry"

Richard Wilk, Indiana University

"The Role of the Technologies of Mixing, Grading, and Packaging in the Nineteenth-Century Colonial Food System"

Kelly Feltault, American University

"Trading Quality, Producing Value: Socionatural Commodity Networks in the Global Crabmeat Industry"

Jenny Leigh Smith, Yale University

"Empire of Ice Cream: How Life Became Sweeter in the Postwar Soviet Union"

Andrew Godley and Bridget Williams, University of Reading

"The Chicken, the Factory Farm, and the Supermarket: The Industrialisation of Poultry Farming in Britain, 1950-1980"

Katherine Grier, Winterthur Library

"Man's Best Friend: The Rise of the Dog Food Industry in the United States"

Joe Anderson, University of West Georgia

"Lard to Lean: Making the Meat-Type Hog in Post-World War II America"

Jonathan Rees, Colorado State University-Pueblo

"The Table or the Railroad Car?: The Quest for Purity and the Development of the American Ice and Refrigeration Industries"

Catherine Grandclement, Ecole des Mines de Paris

"Wheeling Food Products Around the Store...and Away: The Invention of the Shopping Cart, 1936-1950"

Lisa Tolbert, University of North Carolina at Greensboro

"The Aristocracy of the Market Basket: Self-Service Food Shopping in the New South"

Patrick Patterson, University of California, San Diego

"Making Markets Marxist? The East European Grocery Store from Rationing to Rationality to Rationalizations"

Katherine Leonard Turner, University of Delaware

"The Bakery, the Saloon, and the Quick Lunch: Ready to Eat Food in Working-Class Neighborhoods, 1880-1930"

Sponsored by the Hagley Library's Center for the History of Business, Technology, and Society

The conference is free and open to the public, but advance registration is requested. Contact Carol Lockman at (302) 658-2400, ext. 243, or clockman@hagley.org to register or obtain more information.

Use Hagley's Buck Road East entrance.
For directions, visit www.hagley.org.

Image: Urethane foam sculpture by Domenico Mortellito for the DuPont Company pavilion at the 1964-1965 New York World's Fair